

Laps Around the Sun

I came here for sanity
I came here for love
I came here to get what I wanted

I came here for lullabies
I came here for a song
I came here to give what I could give

And I would give anything
If you'd give your time
I'd give you my world and my body

I'd write you an opera
About how we lived
When we were still young and we blossomed

Like nature we took our cue
From how the world turns
We joined up our days into night-time

We passed every cycle
In laps around the sun
We moved into seasons and pastures

As half the world crazy
Queue up out of fear
I want you to notice what matters

The sun peeking out
Like a spotlight to shine
Some light on the truth of its subjects

So I write until there's
No paper and pen
Then I sing until there's no voice left

If no one is reading
Or writing it down
Then nothing is coming from nowhere

I came here for sanity
I came here for love
I came here to get what I wanted

I came here for lullabies
I came here for songs
I came here to give what I could give
