

Big in Japan

You were always good at skimming
Pebbles across running lakes
Beat me at chess and at Scrabble
I'll play you at the end of May

When your bags will be flying
To home from Japan
You've seen half of this strange world
I've seen it change where I stand

Remember five miles up a hill
Over the Irish Sea
A deja vu collection
Of the finest memories

The view that changed so little
Was summer brightly rich
As happy and honest
As a truly close friendship

It's funny how we rarely change
We rarely change who we are
But we do one thing and another thing
And another thing and another thing

My pebbles were always sinking
And yours bounced on their way
Like they were some flying fish
Seen on the banks of the Bantry Bay

Now that you speak Japanese
Will you teach me what you can
I'll teach you how to play guitar
We'll form a band that is big in Japan

It's funny how we rarely change
We rarely change who we are
But we do one thing and another thing
And another thing and another thing

It was just you and I
With the moon in the sky
Lighting the mountainside

It was just you and I
With a torch as our guide
Lighting the mountainside
