

Comparably Speaking

I wish I could be more like you
You wish you could be more like me
At least we've got each other
Got each other's love and company

If you had seen my annual income
You wouldn't want to be more like me
I'll probably never sign that deal

And look at you
You have got a wedding
It's coming up and it's gonna rock your world
I'm still waiting
I am waiting still

I wish I could be more like you
You wish you could be more like me
At least we've got each other
Got each other's love and company

I'm a man who lives inside his own world
I've never worked for an industry or firm
Nobody makes it unless they're known

You're someone who works with other people
You'll always find yourself another job
I work from job to job
I work alone

I wish I could be more like you
You wish you could be more like me
At least we've got each other
Got each other's love and company

Now everyone is so busy comparing
Who they are with everyone they know
Whatever happened to the phone

If you pick it up to ask me for a coffee
Or a drink of my favourite cup of tea
I'll get the bus or plane or tube to your home

Wherever that may be
No matter if it's near or far
Wherever that might be
I'll come to yours
