

Wasted Breath

In my youth I wasted breath
Running 'round without a head
Thinking that I was the best
That my art would pass the test

But had I known where I'd be
Not remembered seriously
Nor a member of a scene
I would still have become me

Because that's the man I am
Lives and works in Great Britain
Loves and cares for who he can
Dreams of touring with a band